HOLIDAY TURKEY MAKES 15 SERVINGS

Ingredients:

- fresh turkey, about 15 pounds, 1 preferably free-range
- tablespoon olive oil 1
- 1 quart apple cider
- 2 teaspoons dried poultry seasoning Coarse sea salt and freshly ground black pepper

Remove the giblets from the turkey and discard (or save for another use). Rinse the turkey inside and out and pat dry with paper towels. Rub it all over with salt and pepper. Refrigerate, uncovered, for at least 12 hours and up to 24 hours. During that time, the surface of the turkey will become visibly dry and the skin will tighten; this encourages a nice crisp skin on the finished bird.

Remove the turkey from the refrigerator 1 hour before you plan to start roasting. Preheat the oven to 450 F.

Put the turkey on a rack set in a large, flameproof roasting pan. Drizzle the oil over the top.

Chili cook-off Four on ballot for two town council seats offers tasty way to help seniors

Volume 149, NO. 44

By Melanie Lekocevic Capital Region Independent Media

RAVENA - From moose meat to venison to "boomer chili," there was something for every culinary taste at the first annual chili cookoff at Senior Projects of Ravena last weekend.

"We are having our first annual chili cook-off," said Assistant Director Lakken Kovacik from Senior Projects. "Earlier this year we did Soup for Seniors in February, but this is our first chili cook-off, and I'm hoping to make both of them annual events."

There were 15 contestants, most of them home cooks, bringing their special brand of chili for the community to try out. Each paid $10 to enter the contest, and the $150 that was raised was the prize money for

What do you think is the top issue facing your community?

What would you do to address this issue if elected?

Communication and transparency between current board and community. I would like to see more involvement and communication between all board members. Current board meetings offer no meaningful open discussion in public between council members, giving the public the perception that all decisions are made behind closed doors with no public consideration. I want to bring back public workshops between the town and village boards on a monthly basis to discuss areas of mutual interest. We need to work together, not against each other. There should be better hensive ethics plan to govern our town board and employees.

Our town board should work in the best interest of the people who elected them and not local businesses or neighboring towns. Decisions made by me will always be after careful review of what is in the interest of the community as a whole, not just a few members or one business. There should be a balance between industry and residential life. I believe we can both live in the same town together, however we need to find that balance and make sure that our local businesses and industry are also good neighbors for our community. To do so, we need to have a community work group that is comprised of town and village board members, local business members, community group leaders (environmental, school, clergy and so on) to meet to work together to make Coeymans a place to reside and raise a family, to retire and enjoy all it has to offer.

Why do you think you will be a good trustee? If you currently hold ward to accomplishing if elected? See above.

I believe what will make me a good council member for the town is that I will work equally as hard for those who elect me and those who chose not to. As a board member, you work for the community and my interest should never come into play, even if it upsets people in my own party. My decisions will be made after proper research, open discussion with the public and board members, and always with the best interest of the town of Coeymans in mind.

By Melanie Lekocevic Capital Region Independent Media

RAVENA — There was a sea of pink making its way through the village when VFW Post 9594 hosted the annual walk in support of breast cancer survivors.

The 1-mile walk, hosted by the VFW's Auxiliary, started at the post and wound its way through the village, raising awareness of breast cancer and collecting funds to support those battling the disease.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

Last year's walk raised money to support local resident Darlene Mergendahl, who is living with breast cancer and said there are many people in the community that have faced the disease.

"There are so many people here who have gone through this, so they are supporting it because they know what it's like," Mergendahl said. "Support like this is definitely needed.

This year's walk was organized by resident Lori Nunziato, an Auxiliary member who set up several committees to oversee the various components of the walk. She has a good friend who was diagnosed with breast cancer last year, so the cause is near and dear to her heart.

"It's an important cause," Nunthe winning cook. Local residents paid $10 for adults and $5 for children under age 12 to try out the chili and pick their favorite.

"People from the community are given tickets to vote for their favorite chili and whichever contestant has the most tickets at the end of the day wins the prize money," Kovacik said.

"You get to taste all 15 chilis and we have little corn muffins and some of the chilis have toppings you can put on, like sour cream and cheese," Kovacik said. "You taste all of them and then vote for your favorites."

After trying out 15 different versions of chili, no one went home hungry.

At the end of the contest, the big winner was Hayden Hyslop, but the race was

The money raised during the event will go towards the various needs of Senior Projects of Ravena, which may include the purchase of a new ice machine or a warming oven.

senior center, whether it's for paying bills or buying a new appliance that we desperately need," Kovacik said.

Volunteers Lou Smith and Sarah Covey signed in visitors at the reception table, and said Senior Projects is an important resource for the area's elderly. Both are also members of the facility.

"I love the senior center because I get to meet all kinds of different people and serve dinner to them," Smith said. "It's a lot of fun and I really enjoy it."

I have been here for 25 years and we do a lot," Covey said. "We go on many trips, we have parties — it keeps you young and out in the public, helping people."

Village Ambassador Rebecca Shook entered her chili - a family recipe for venison "Hunstsman's Chili" that she got from her uncle John. She was happy to see the community sharing each other's bounty.

"This annual chili cookoff is another good example of being a community by sharing what we have with one another," Shook said. "It shows how much we care for each other.'

way House Tavern, brought his special "Moose Meat Chili," giving many their first taste of moose.

"This recipe uses actual moose that my friend got in Nova Scotia. He hunted it there," Misuraca said.

Senior Projects provides much-needed resources for the senior population, the mayor said.

"Senior Projects is a very valuable resource for seniors in the community," Misuraca said. "They can get a lot of the things they need at little to no cost, and also socialize, which is really important, too."

friends' great-grandparents coming here back in the '80s, to their grandparents, to their parents, and now it's us ourselves starting to show up," Mergendahl said. "So, I've seen generation after generation using the services that we provide, which is wonderful because that means we affect the whole community, not just the senior community."

Landing Park improvements. New permanent bathrooms that are handicap accessible will soon be completed, making life easier for all residents visiting our beautiful parks. Joralemon Park now has new basketball court as well as tennis and pickleball courts. The park also has a new state-of-the-art playground that was designed to welcome children with special needs. I'm also proud of our 350th celebration, which Councilmember Tutay and I co-chaired. The two-day event was filled with free festivities, live music, carnival rides, and a spectacular display of fireworks over the Hudson River. I must credit the success of the event to a large group of community members who spent countless hours for over a year planning and organizing the celebration. If re-elected, I look forward to representing and serving the residents of the town of Coeymans.

Melanie Lekocevic/Capital Region Independent Media VFW Post 9594 Auxiliary members also sold baked goods to raise additional funds for breast cancer advocacy

Last year's walk raised $3.000

This year, Nunziato added, included a raffle for 27 gift baskets — last year there were three — and there was a bake sale, a 50/50 raffle, and chances for a donated quilt, which Auxiliary members sold at a local supermarket through the month of October.

ed? While campaigning, I've talked to many people throughout the town of Coeymans. Several concerns were brought up, but the one that seems to stand out the most pertains to the balance between industry and residential life. Many people feel that the town of Coeymans has made concessions to industry in the past, in turn neglecting some aspects of residential and environmental life. If elected, I'll work collaboratively with the other members of the town board and local businesses to come up with solutions to this problem. I think periodic meetings should be held with various business owners with the hope of working together to mitigate such issues. Helping to solve issues such as this will hopefully create a balance between industry and residences. Why do you think you will be a good trustee? If you are a newcomer, what are you looking forward to accomplishing if elected? As someone who has lived in the town of Coeymans my entire life, I believe I can look at the town in a holistic and unbiased manner. When concerns are brought up that require the town board's attention, I feel I can make sound decisions as to what is best for the town. I am also someone who is easily approachable. I look forward to having discussions with the public about town issues and believe local government should be a place where community members and local officials work cohesively to create a great place to live.

son of the 350th Anniversary Committee for the town of Coeymans and helping to plan and provide a celebration which was enjoyed by many this past June and September. In addition, I had the pleasure of working with village of Ravena trustee Linda Mueller and my colleague on the town board, Linda Bruno, in revising the Town of Coeymans/Village of Ravena Summer Program to ensure greater accountability and safety for the children of our town. We were also able to partner with the RCS school district's Discovery Camp, hiring assistants to the teacher, working in the program, and helping to enhance the program for the children who took part in the camp. Helping to enhance the quality of life for our residents by building permanent bathrooms at both Joralemon and Coeymans Landing (which is still in the construction phase) is another accomplishment by the board that I am proud of being a part of. Lastly, being part of the budget process that has enabled the town to receive a score of zero, the best you can attain, from New York State Comptroller's Office for fiscal stress and creating a budget that provides for increases to both the Ravena Rescue Squad and Senior Projects of Ravena, while maintaining a 0% tax increase to residents, is an accomplishment that my fellow board members and I are incredibly proud of. All of these, while very important, take a back seat to my proudest accomplishment and that is being a resident of the town of Coeymans and being able to represent our residents, who are the best thing about the town of Coeymans. I am honored to serve the town and hope to continue to serve a place that I am proud to call home.

What do you think is the top issue facing your community? What would you do to address this issue if elected?

The biggest issue our town is facing is the need to strike a balance between economic development while maintaining our residents' quality of life. We also need to support the offshore wind project which could potentially create hundreds of jobs. The money that will be invested into our community will boost our local economy and keep our tax rate low. We can accomplish this by continuing to work together with our local businesses, elected officials and community residents.

Why do you think you will be a good supervisor/ trustee? If you currently hold office, what are you most proud of accomplishing?

As a councilman these past four years, we have worked on many projects that have improved our community. I'm especially proud of the Joralemon and Coeymans top issue facing your community? What would you do to address this issue if elected?

I believe we need to continue to move forward and build upon the progress we have made. We are continuing to work on revitalizing our town and a major part of that is the offshore wind project at the port, which will bring jobs and tax revenue to the town. We also need to make sure that our economic progress is balanced according to our Comprehensive Plan and provides for quality of life for our residents. In addition, we need to address the issue of the town hall building and determine what route we want to take, whether it be renovating our current town hall, purchasing another property and renovating that, or new construction. This means ensuring that we provide a balanced budget and that spending plans are sensible while providing affordable taxes to our residents.

Why do you think you will be a good trustee? If you currently hold office, what are you most proud of accomplishing?

As a current board member I am proud of several accomplishments that have taken place while I have sat in my seat. The first is providing internet service to more rural areas of our town which assists residents in being able to work from home and their children being able to complete assignments that are digitally based. Another accomplishment that I am proud of was the honor of serving as the co-chairper-

Historical Society's final 2023 program: 'Barent, the Miller, He Pays No Rent'

Karen Hess

- This year the town of Coeymans has been celebrating the 350th anniversary of its founding. The Ravena Coeymans Historical Society's final program of that anniversary is to be held Sunday, Nov. 12, at 2 p.m.

Karen Hess will present "Barent, the Miller, He Pays No Rent," which chronicles the life and times of a Dutch RAVENA-COEYMANS man whose name is memorialized.

Barent Pieterse Coeymans sailed across an ocean to the Dutch colony of New Netherland to serve the patroonship of the Van Rensselaer family on the Upper Hudson River. As an apprentice to the patroon's miller, Barent learned the trade of sawing planks and grinding grain.

Filled with ambition, he possessed all the ingredients for success -– skill at his trade, willingness to work hard, doggedness and shrewd business acumen. His success is evident in 125 square miles of riverfront land conveyed to him by Native people and confirmed by an English governmental patent on April 7, 1673. Karen Hess, who has extensively researched the Coeymans family, returns to discuss another aspect of Coeymans history. Using primary source documents, she will follow the life of Barent Coevmans from the Netherlands, his life as a miller and landowner, his marriages, his family, and the many disputes he had with the Van Rensselaers for whom he worked, from whom he leased mills, and to whom he bested in his fight for land.

Join in for this final program of 2023, open to the public, at the museum at 15 Mountain Road, Ravena. And mark your calendars for the museum's holiday open house on Sunday, Dec. 10, from 1-3:30 p.m.

Because slow-roasted meats are cooked evenly and a temperature that keeps most of the juices in place, a resting period is largely unnecessary. RAVENA NEWS-HERALD CAPITAL REGION INDEPENDENT MEDIA

Lekocevic named executive editor at CRIM

Staff Reports

Melanie Lekocevic, the top editor at the Ravena News-Herald, the Greenville Pioneer and TheUp-Stater.com for the past two years, has been promoted to the newly created position of executive editor of Capital Region Independent Media, company President Mark Vinciguerra announced this week.

The company includes nine media properties - six weekly newspapers in Albany, Greene, Columbia and Washington counties in New York, one paper in Vermont, and two regional news websites.

In addition to the three Capital Region Independent Media editorial departments she already leads, Lekocevic becomes the top newsroom executive at the Whitehall Times, the Granville Sentinel, the FreePress and NYVTmedia.com – all in Washington County – along with The Columbia Paper in Columbia County and the Lakes Region FreePress in Vermont.

"I am pleased to promote Melanie to this position," Vinciguerra said. "As an experienced journalist with decades of experience in the communities we serve, Melanie brings the right mix of news savvy and managerial experience to this new position, which will help our company expand its mission of journalism to our readers and advertisers."

Before joining Vinciguerra's group, Lekocevic worked as an editor and reporter for 10 years for Columbia-Greene Media, where she oversaw news content for two daily newspapers and a weekly publication – the Ravena News-Herald. Prior to that, she handled public relations for a Brooklyn-based health care company, and for three years was news director at a cable television station, BronxNet, where she launched the news program BXNY-TV. She started her career in advertising.

Lekocevic, 56, said she is looking forward to her new role at Capital Region Independent Media.

"I am so grateful to be given this opportunity to lead the editorial department," she said. "We have a talented staff of editors and reporters, and we will all work together to expand and grow and bring our readers high-quality news content in myriad ways, including print, our website, social media, videos, broadcasting the list goes on and on.

"It feels very good to be on the cutting edge of the news industry and finding new ways to share our stories with the communities we serve. It is an exciting time to be in the news business."

Lekocevic has a bachelor's degree from Boston University and an MBA from Regis University in Denver. She was born in Germany, grew up in New York City, lives in Greene County and has a college-age daughter.

WHITTLING AWAY

DICK BROOKS

Watching the news over the past few weeks has me wondering if I followed the wrong career path during my working days.

I chose to go into the field of education, which I have see that maybe I should have siblings, who were unwillgone into the area of finance. When I retired from teaching, I was presented with a nice shiny brass school bell for my desk; it's lovely, but with things the way they are now, I think one of those "golden parachutes" they seem to be handing out to everyone in the financial field might be more useful.

Looking back, I see that the signs of a natural aptitude in finance were apparent. As a small child, I never saved any money, spent it as fast as I could get it. If a stray quarter came my way, I spent it as soon as I could get to the nearest store.

My tries at deficit spendnever regretted, but now I ing were thwarted by my hood, I did make some ining to lend me any of their allowance. I did manage to convince them that because I was the oldest, I owned the family dog. I then sold them shares so they became part owners and could have petting rights.

I invested some of my allowance in a small brown bag of penny candy, which I purchased at Mr. Avery's store. I then smuggled my small sack of contraband into school where on the playground, I could sell the contents for as much as a nickel apiece, thus practicing the law of supply and demand at an early age.

Having reached adult-vestments. I even took a jaunt or two into the arena of stocks and bonds. I still have the Betamax and Edsel stock I purchased at the time.

The Princess and I have a large amount of monev invested in her Beanie Baby collection. I remember standing in line for hours for the privilege of paying an outrageous sum for the newest ones to appear on the market. I haven't checked their value lately, but they must be worth a fortune by now!

I think all of the above shows a certain natural talent in the financial area. I think I could run a large corporation into the ground with the best of them. In fact, I think I could do it better, faster and cheaper than most.

One of the items on the news talked about a corporate head that had been on the job for three weeks and qualified for an $18 million buyout. I feel fairly confident that I could have ruined the company in under two weeks and would have only charged them $10 million.

Another item in the news concerned a large insurance company that the government had to bail out; as soon as they got a boatload of cash from Washington, they had a $400,000 party. I bet I could have had the party for at least $10,000 less and have kept the amount spent on spa treatments down by not allowing pedicures.

I think I would have been a natural talent had I gone into the financial world, too bad we'll never know.

Actually, I'm really ticked off about the whole mess. Greed is an ugly word. Given the weight of gold and its aerodynamic qualities, it might be good for the country if some of these guys took their "golden parachutes" to a very high place and tried to put them to use.

Thought for the week — Exceptions always outnumber the rules.

Until next week, may you and yours be happy and well.

Beyond the track: Tiny Magoo and the quest for ethical horse protection

Horses of Unbridled

SUSAN KAYNE

By Melanie Lekocevic For Capital Region Independent Media

In August 2021, as the Unbridled team was bustling with preparations for a significant field trip with the South End Children's Cafe, a new member made a grand entrance. Her name, Tiny Magoo.

She was impossible to ignore. With her stunning dappled-gray coat and majestic presence, she was more than just another horse, she was a beautiful Thoroughbred mare. From the moment she arrived. Tiny's personality shined with curiosity, gentleness and friendliness, for a forever home for his 10-year-old racing warrior, Stalwart Member. It was a time when aftercare options for racehorses were few and far between. This pressing need inspired Sandy and Susan to establish the Unbridled Thoroughbred Foundation, with Stalwart Member as its inaugural equine member.

For nearly two decades, Sandy has been an unwavering supporter of Unbridled, aiding in the rescue and rehoming of countless Thoroughbreds from a range of situations — whether retired thoughtfully by their original caregivers or facing bleak futures in slaughter-bound feedlots.

Tiny's arrival at Unbridled not only marked another chapter in a fruitful partnership that began with Stalwart Member, but it also stood as a testament to Unbridled's unceasing commitment to turning around the lives of horses with love, new opportunities, and a promise of lifelong protection. Tiny thrived under the specialized care tailored to equally as bright as her striking appearance.

RACING CAREER

Born on April 12, 2017, in New York and bred by Eagle View Farm, LLC & Richard Scelfo, Tiny Magoo gave her all on the racetracks of Aqueduct, Belmont Park and Saratoga. Although she never clinched a win, she did secure several second-place finishes, amassing over $45,000 in her racing career.

While these numbers might appear commendable, it's crucial to remember the impact that high-stress environments like racing can have on young horses, as evidenced by a 2016 study in the "Journal of Applied Animal Welfare Science."

Fortunately for Tiny, she was retired in a mostly sound condition, aside from the usual wear and tear that racehorses experience.

A NEW CHAPTER

When owner Sandy Goldfarb, and trainers Rob and Brittany Atras decided it was time for Tiny to retire, they chose Unbridled to be her new home. The initial months to transition a horse from the racetrack into life beyond the track requires experienced handlers and skilled cared; it is crucial to the horse's chance of successful integration into a new life.

In 2003, a powerful bond was forged between Sandy Goldfarb and Susan Kayne when Sandy was searching meet her individual needs THE RETIRED RACE-HORSE PROJECT

When Tiny Magoo arrived at Unbridled, the interest in her was immediate and overwhelming, thanks in part to her gorgeous grey coat — a color highly sought after in the horse world.

Yet, as much as the adoption inquiries poured in, it was clear that Tiny needed time to discover her own path, her own identity beyond that of a racehorse. This led her to a temporary home in October with Christina Sawelsky-Morse in Massachusetts, an experienced horsewoman and trusted collaborator with Unbridled.

Sawelsky-Morse initially aimed to prepare Tiny for participation in the Retired Racehorse Project, but it soon became evident that the competitive circuit wasn't where Tiny's heart lay. Instead, she found her true calling as an ambassador for Thoroughbreds, taking on a significant role in November at the Equine Affaire, a prestigious national expo.

At Unbridled, we pride ourselves on truly listening to the horses in our care. We allow them the space and time to express themselves, respecting their unique personalities, emotions and inclinations. We never impose an agenda on them; instead, we let them guide us in understanding when they are Tiny Magoo says "hello" to Snowball.

ready to step into new roles or experiences. It's this philosophy of care — acknowledging each horse as a unique, sentient being that allows us to genuinely honor and protect the lives of horses like Tiny Magoo. TRANSFORMATIONAL

JOURNEY

Tiny Magoo returned to the fold of Unbridled in August 2022, after a period of meaningful advocacy work. The changes in her were remarkable — she had not only gained weight and grown taller by 2 inches but also developed a fuller, richer personality during her time under Christina Sawelsky-Morse's thoughtful groundwork. This transformation is a testament to the profound impact a gentle approach with compassionate care can have on a horse's physical and emotional well-being.

Today, Tiny stands as a living example of the potential that slow, thoughtful care, adequate rest, and a supportive environment can unlock in a former racehorse. Her story serves as a poignant call to action, urging us to re-evaluate our existing practices and regulations that leave too many horses in its wake.

Tiny isn't merely an asset or a means to an end; she is part of a larger community that includes fellow horses, caregivers, advocates and potential future owners. Her secure future exists because Sandy Goldfarb made the conscious decision to retire her from racing while she was still in good health.

CONSIDER THE HORSE FIRST

Unfortunately, many owners see horses as mere commodities rather than as sentient beings deserving of ethical consideration. Horses in these hands are often pushed to the breaking point, raced until they are no longer fit for the track or any other purpose. This grim reality often leads to a high number of Thoroughbreds ending up in slaughterhouses, sometimes with their racing plates still intact.

At Unbridled, we strongly advocate for mandatory imaging procedures at racetracks, to ensure unsound horses are not raced, and that horses are retired before they are permanently damaged. Though Tiny may not have been a champion on the track, thanks to Sandy Goldfarb's proactive choice, she is a big winner in the race of her life.

Susan Kayne operates the horse rescue organization Unbridled Thoroughbred Foundation, on the border of Albany County and Greenville.

TOBY MOORE

In my formative years, I often chose silence over retreating confrontation, rather than facing the storm.

While there's merit in sidestepping conflict, I've realized that a well-constructed argument can illuminate hidden truths and pave the way for genuine healing in certain situations.

Let's confront a reality: Our world seems more divisive than ever. Social media amplifies differences, news outlets fuel polarizing views, and personal beliefs become fortified fortresses, spectives. It's vital to discern when to engage and when to retreat.

Is arguing synonymous with fighting? Not necessarily, though the lines often blur. At its best, an argument can be a passionate exchange of ideas — a debate where parties respect boundaries, stick to facts, and prioritize understanding over being understood.

A delicate balance exists; sometimes, a mere divergence of views can unexpectedly escalate into something more contentious.

What about author Dale Carnegie's advice in the groundbreaking book, "How to Win Friends and Influence People?'

In the book, he describes how nobody ever wins an argument. If you win, you lose; if you lose, you lose. He suggests that winning an argument comes at the expense of a relationship and often feels like losing.

Nine times out of ten, an argument ends with each contestant more firmly convinced than ever that they are right. He believed that arguments fail to change the opposing party's mind and create a barrier.

Arguments

In most circumstances, he's correct, and we must learn to choose our battles.

In professional settings, tread carefully. Avoid disputes with business partners, co-workers, superiors, or anyone you might seek assistance from. Disagreeing with acquaintances or those you're just getting to know rarely fosters rapport.

Consider this scenario: You're talking with an individual you've recently met, seeking guidance on a new business venture. The topic unexpectedly shifts to the forthcoming presidential election, and it becomes evident you're on opposite sides of the fence. Is debating your stance likely to garner their support? Chances are, it won't.

Recently, I came across an enlightening article in Psychology Today that posited that arguing, at times, can be beneficial. It can serve as a lens, helping you discern the other person's viewpoint more distinctly and fostering mutual understanding.

There's a notable exception: the effectiveness diminishes when one isn't receptive to the alternate stance, lacks flexibility, or when emotions run too high. Under these circumstances, things can quickly devolve.

Think about a couple arguing over something small, like who forgot to take out the trash. In no time, they're bringing up old problems and yelling. Doing this too much destroys the relationship

What about two old friends? They've grown to have different beliefs about politics and religion: A simple talk can get heated fast.

The cost of relentless arguing is far steeper than strained relationships. Prolonged exposure to such stressful situations can lead to traumatic responses, evoking symptoms akin to PTSD in some individuals. The body's constant high alert — fight or flight can have severe mental and physical repercussions.

A profound truth lies at the heart of every argument: we can choose our reaction. Every argument offers an opportunity — a chance not to escalate, not to wound, but to understand.

Conflict is natural, but how we handle it defines its outcome. This is where conflict resolution shines. Instead of positioning oneself against the other, one could try to bridge the gap. Active listening, asking open-ended questions, and validating feelings can turn a potentially volatile situation into a productive conversation.

I say to protect the relationship. A moment of understanding is better than a lifetime of regrets.

There's a significant difference between arguing to understand and arguing to win. The former helps us evolve, while the latter only holds us back.

Instead of diving headfirst into every argument, we must choose which battles are worth our energy.

When tempers flare, and voices rise, take a deep breath. Remember that every choice, every word spoken and action sets us on a trajectory. By consciously understanding choosing over hate and compassion over confrontation, we preserve our peace and pave the way for deeper and better relationships.

In every disagreement, let's prioritize understanding. In every argument, strive for unity. Only then can we bridge divides and foster more profound, lasting connections with one another.

Veterans Day: Honoring America's heroes

Veterans Day will be celebrated on Nov. 11.

By Melanie Lekocevic

Capital Region Independent Media Veterans Day, observed on Nov. 11 each year, is a holiday dedicated to honoring and expressing gratitude to the brave men and women who have served in the U.S. armed forces.

The day has a rich history that dates back to the aftermath of World War I and has since evolved to become a 1938, and it primarily fosymbol of respect and appreciation for all veterans who have defended the nation.

ARMISTICE DAY

The origins of Veterans Day can be traced back to World War I, known as the Great War.

The armistice that ended the hostilities on the Western Front was signed on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month in 1918, marking the end of one of the deadliest conflicts in human history. November 11 became a day of remembrance and reflection on the sacrifices made during the war.

Armistice Day was officially recognized as a national holiday on May 13, scope was expanded, and cused on honoring veterans of World War I. The day included parades, ceremonies, and a brief cessation of business activities to honor the fallen and living veterans of the Great War. It was a solemn day of remembrance for a generation profoundly impacted by the horrors of World War I.

EXPANDING THE SCOPE

After World War II and the Korean War, it became evident that a broader approach was needed to honor all veterans, not just those who served during World War L

As a result, the holiday's on June 1, 1954, Congress passed the "Veterans Day Bill," which replaced "Ar-"Veterans." mistice" with President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed the bill into law, establishing Nov. 11, as Veterans Day. This change allowed the holiday to recognize the sacrifices of veterans from all wars and conflicts, not just World War I.

Since its renaming, Veterans Day has become a day to honor and celebrate all veterans, living and deceased. Parades, ceremonies and events are held across the country to show appreciation for the men and women who have selflessly served their nation. These activities often involve veterans themselves, as well as their families, friends and grateful citizens.

The National Veterans Day Ceremony takes place at the Arlington National Cemetery each year, and it symbolizes the unity of the American people in recognizing and appreciating the sacrifices of all veterans. In addition to these ceremonies, various organizations and schools hold special programs and events to educate the public about the significance of Veterans Day.

Veterans Day is not merely a day off from work or school but a day for Americans to reflect on the service and sacrifices of those who have sworn to protect their nation. It is an opportunity for citizens to express their heartfelt gratitude to veterans who have dedicated their lives to the defense of freedom and democracy.

The history of Veterans Day is a testament to the enduring spirit of remembrance and gratitude. From its origins as Armistice Day, marking the end of World War I, to its evolution into a day that honors veterans from all wars, the holiday serves as a reminder of the sacrifices made by those who have worn the uniform of the United States armed forces.

TCI NY provides an essential service to New Yorkers

Processing, recycling, and repairing transformers

TCI of NY is deemed an essential business in New York for its role in the power industry. The company goes to the utilities with specialized trailers to pick up damaged or broken transformers to be inspected. They are either repaired or recycled. 99 percent of the material processed is salvaged for beneficial re-use rather than landfilled.

"The service is especially important today due to severe storms knocking out transformers. This has resulted in supply chain issues for the utilities," said John Hamor, Capital Energy Partners. "TCI removes the damaged transformers so they can be replaced or repaired."

Transformers move electricity from higher to lower voltages so it can be delivered safely to homes, schools, and businesses. Everything related to electricity uses a transformer.

To find out more about working at TCI, please email HR@tci-ny.com or go to www.tci-ny.com for more information.

SPORTS RAVENA NEWS-HERALD | CAPITAL REGION INDEPENDENT MEDIA _______ Thursday, November 2, 2023 Indians steamroll past Gloversville 55-0 in first playoff game

By Melanie Lekocevic

Capital Region Independent Media R AVENA - COEY-MANS-SELKIRK — The Indians won their ninth straight game heading into the playoffs Friday night against the Gloversville Huskies.

The Huskies ended the 2023 regular season with a 4-4 record, while the Indians had a perfect 8-0 season.

Gloversville While threatened a few times throughout Friday night's game on the gridiron at RCS. it was never even close, with the Indians coming out on top 55-0.

Gloversville had the first possession of the game and turned the ball over on downs at the Indians' 40yard line. It took the hometown team only two plays to put the ball in the end zone - a Kaden Potter completed pass to Jack McFerran that brought the Indians to the 28-yard line, and on the next play, Dominick Paljusaj scored the first touchdown of the game on a 28-yard run. The extra point kick was no good, keeping the score at Indians up 6-0.

On the next play, Mc-

Ferran made an onside kick attempt that McFerran recovered, giving the ball back to the Indians at the Gloversville 45-yard line, but a fumble would turn the ball back over to the Huskies. After a couple of sacks by Jack Reif and Ethan Green, and a costly penalty for the Huskies, Gloversville was able to move the ball to midfield before punting on 4th and 28.

The Indians took over the ball at their own 27-yard line and on the first play of the possession, Paljusaj had a 73-yard touchdown run to put the score at 12-0, and then Paljusaj had a successful 2-point conversion, making the score 14-0 at the end of the quarter.

The Indians — and Pal-jusaj, who would go on to score another three touchdowns — never looked back.

At the top of the second quarter the Indians' Ethan Green had a couple of carries to get a first down before Paljusaj had another touchdown, running the ball 33 yards down the field. The extra point kick was no good, keeping the score at Indians 20, Huskies 0.

With 8:15 left in the second quarter, Gloversville fumbled the ball and Green recovered, giving the Indians the ball at mid-field. RCS went on to fumble the ball, but flags on the play and a costly facemask penalty on the Huskies put the ball at the Gloversville 21-yard line. Quarterback Kaden Potter was injured on the play but was able to walk off the field, with Mason Carkner coming in to take over the quarterback duties.

Then Paljusaj did it again, scoring his fourth touchdown of the game on a 25-yard run. The extra point attempt was blocked, with RCS up 26-0.

With 1:04 left in the half, Wyatt Algozzine caught a 32-yard pass reception from Čarkner before he was knocked out of bounds at the Gloversville 21-yard line. A couple of penalties on the Indi-ans — holding, which was declined, and illegal blocking, which was accepted — put the ball back to the Huskies' 25-yard line before Paljusaj scored yet another touchdown on a 25-yard run.

The RCS Indians defeated Gloversville 55-0 to make it to the semi-final game Friday night against Mechanicville/Hoosic Valley.

The two-point conversion by Green made the score Indians 34, Huskies 0, with :27 left in the half.

The Indians recovered the kick and took over the ball yet again at the Huskies' 25-yard line. Within seconds, a 25-yard touchdown pass from Carkner to McFerran ran the score up to 40-0 before the extra kick went through the goalposts and the score was Indians up 41-0, ending the half.

At the top of the second half, Algozzine caught the kick and returned the ball all the way down the field for a touchdown just seconds into the third quarter. The score went to $4\hat{8}$ -0 with the extra point.

The Huskies threatened with three minutes left in the third, getting to the Indians' 11 yard line be-fore losing the ball on downs.

On the first play, Green blazed across the field with an 85-yard touchdown run with the final sec-onds of the third quarter ticking down. The extra point put the score at Indians 55, Huskies 0, which would be the final score of the game.

The Indians move on to the semi-finals next Friday at 7 p.m. when they host Mechanicville/Hoosic Valley game.

BEA BETTER GARDENER A new perspective on Peter Rabbit

Contributed photo Many gardeners have developed a new perspective on rabbits that try to dine in their gardens.

By Thomas Christopher For Capital Region Independent Media

"Peter Rabbit Had It Coming." That was the title I gave to a chapter about garden pest control in a book I wrote many years ago. In fact, even as a child I rooted for Peter's adversary, Mr. McGregor.

For those whose parents never read them Beatrix Potter's classic children's book, "The Tale of Peter Rabbit," the story recounts a day in the life of a young cottontail. His mother warns Peter to stay away from Mr. Mc-Gregor's garden, saying -'Your father had an accident there; he was put into a pie by Mrs. McGregor." Peter, of course, pays no attention and has stuffed himself with Mr. McGregor's vegetables before he is caught in the act and pursued by the infuriated gardener.

In the book, Peter eventually escapes more or less unscathed. The cottontails who have invaded my garden over the years were rarely so fortunate.

Recently, though, I've had a change of heart. I've learned about the plight of the New England cottontail, a species once abundant in the northeastern United States but now endangered throughout its former range.

The natural history of this population decline makes a useful supplement to Beatrix Potter.

In large part, this is a story of changes in human management of the land. New England cottontails, like many other species of small animals and plants, flourish in the brushy thickets of young forest, woodland recovering from natural disturbance such as fire or human disturbance such as logging. The abandonment of farms across our region initially provided lots of new habitats as fields reverted to brush. As these overgrown fields developed into mature forests and the local logging industry declined, habitat shrank. Fire suppression removed a prime source of natural disturbance, and the conversion of forest into housing developments since World War II posed a new threat by breaking the remaining woods up into isolated fragments often too small to support a healthy population of New England cottontails.

Hunters began introducing a Midwestern rabbit species, the Eastern cottontail, as early as the turn of the 20th century, and they proved more successful at living around people. They multiplied rapidly and crowded the New England cottontails out of much of their remaining territory.

I became aware of the New England cottontail's plight through outreach from the state of Massachusetts, which had joined with its New England neighbors and the state of New York to create a recovery plan for the New England cotton-tail in 2009. State foresters identified a couple of areas in our Berkshire woodlot as suitable for New England cottontail habitat and worked with my wife and me to create two clear-cuts that quickly developed into dense shrubland and native saplings.

Soon thereafter, a rabbit began to feed in my vegetable garden. Instead of reaching for my air rifle, I greeted this as a possible success. I say possible because I only got a quick glimpse of the rabbit and New England cottontails closely resemble Eastern cottontails.

The New England cottontail typically has a darker back than the Eastern cottontail, a black spot between its ears, and shorter ears edged with black. The two species are similar enough, however, that wildlife biologists rely on a DNA analysis of the rabbits' droppings to distinguish one from the other.

Why should you care, I suspect you are muttering, about some rare rabbit so similar to the species that is displacing it? As is commonly the case, the decline of one species is a warning sign of broader changes in the local wildlife. The habitat the New England cottontail requires is also essential to dozens of other species of songbirds, reptiles, mammals and rare plants.

I've barred rabbits of every kind from my vegetable garden by surrounding it with a woven wire fence whose bottom is buried in the ground. This has saved me from confrontations such as the ones Mr. McGregor endured and has promoted peaceful coexistence. This last is important as gardeners such as me move from our old role of monarchs of the landscape to a new one of stewards of our ecosystem

For more information about New England cottontail rabbits and other wildlife dependent on young forest and shrubland habitat, visit the Young Forest & Shrubland website at https:// youngforest.org/.

DEC: The 2 most important things hunters can do to improve deer management

The Department of Environmental Conservation often receives and responds to recommendations from hunters on how to improve deer management and hunting opportunities in New York. However, data collected and tracked by DEC indicates that hunters often overlook or do not participate in the two simplest and most important ways that they can directly improve deer management:

1. Harvesting antlerless deer; and,

2. reporting all the deer they harvest.

In 2022, only 12% of 46% of hunters reported the deer that they harvested, the second lowest reporting rate DEC has documented over the previous five years.

Ensuring sufficient harvest of antlerless deer and deer harvest reporting are the backbone of DEC's deer management program. DEC adjusts the number of Deer Management Permits (i.e., antlerless deer tags) available to hunters in each wildlife management unit to ensure deer populations remain in balance with available habitat and do not exceed levels of public acceptance that can lead to increased crop damage, deer-vehicle critical role in deer managecollisions, and other deer-related impacts. Harvest reporting by hunters allows DEC to accurately estimate the number of deer harvested, as well as track the age and sex distribution of the deer harvest each season. This information greatly informs DEC's deer management planning and decisions the following year. It's a virtuous cycle that relies heavily on hunters' willingness to participate and meet their moral and legal obligations as stewards of New York's shared white-tailed deer resource.

The DEC recently published an educational video that provides an overview of how DEC uses hunter harvest reports to estimate the annual deer and bear harvests. Watch the video on DEC's YouTube channel.

By harvesting antlerless deer and reporting every deer harvested, you play a deer hunters harvested one antlerless deer, and only 4% of hunters harvested two or more antlerless deer. Whether by choice or circumstance, 84% of hunters didn't harvest any antlerless deer, despite antlerless deer being the most abundant and commonly observed portion of the deer population.

Further, in 2022, only ment and help inform DEC's future deer management decisions. Take at least one antlerless deer this season if given the opportunity and report all of your deer harvests through DEC's website, the HuntFish NY mobile app, or by calling 1-866-426-3778.

AG: Election protection hotline set up for November elections

York Attorney New General Letitia James announced that the Office of the Attorney General (OAG) will make its Election Protection Hotline available for the upcoming Nov. 7, election and during New York's early voting period, which runs from Saturday, Oct. 28 through Sunday, Nov. 5.

The hotline will be available to troubleshoot and resolve a range of issues encountered by voters, including issues with voting by absentee ballot or in-person at their polling place. A guide addressing frequently asked questions is also currently available to assist voters with the absentee ballot request process and voter registration issues in advance of the election.

"Free and fair elections are integral to the foundation of our democracy," James said. "My office will always defend New Yorkers' right to vote, and I will ensure every voter is able to cast their ballot free from fear or intimidation. Our election protection hotline is here to help voters address challenges and provide helpful guidance, whether they're voting absentee, during early voting, or on Election Day."

New Yorkers are protected from voter intimidation, deception, and obstruction under state and federal law. Attorney General James urges voters experiencing problems voting to call the OAG hotline at 866-390-2992, or submit a complaint online to request election-related assistance.

The telephone hotline will be open between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. during early voting, and between 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. on Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 7. The hotline will also be available on Wednesday, Nov. 8, between 9 a.m. and 6p.m. to help voters who need assistance following Election Day. Written requests for election-related assistance may be submitted at any time through the online form. Hotline calls and written requests for election-related assistance are processed by OAG attorneys and staff.

The OAG has operated its Election Protection Hotline since November 2012. During previous elections, OAG fielded hundreds and sometimes thousands of complaints from voters across the state and worked with local election officials and others to address issues. The OAG has also taken legal action to protect against voter registration purges and to ensure that voters have adequate and equitable access to vote early as required by law.

All registered voters have the right to accessible elections. On Election Day, polls are required to be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m., and if voters are in line before closing, they must be allowed to vote. In addition, all registered voters have the right to vote free from coercion or intimidation, whether by election officials or any other person.

We only have one chance to make it right

LIVING ON PURPOSE

Dr. William Holland

The other day I was speaking with a person I've known most of my life, and he asked me if I could go back in time and live my life again, what would change.

You would think this would be a question from someone who has maybe suffered and now contemplates how much better life would have been if different decisions had been made. However, this person has been very blessed with a nice family, decent health, and more wealth than they will ever be able to spend.

It's true that many people are just never satisfied and often even a great life is not really appreciated. Instead of thanking God for all the good things we have, some will spend their lives daydreaming about a life that could have been. The truth is they would still not be satisfied. Jesus is the only person in heaven and earth that can give true peace and contentment whatever the situation.

I've heard others say the only way they would possibly even consider going back is if they could know what they know now. Good point, as I realize that going back for a do-over without this knowledge would risk making even more mistakes and being worse off than the first time.

Even as a young man making foolish choices, I still believe that God was with me and was trying to guide me into the life that He wanted me to live. But what makes us think a second chance would be the charm? We learn and develop from our failures. Often, we do not recognize God's presence at the moment, but hopefully, we can look back and see that He not only wants to save us spiritually, but also physically, mentally and emotionally. Blessings we enjoy today are a direct result of Him intervening, inspiring, and warning us in times of difficulties.

Most humans who visualize a second chance are only thinking about what would make them more happy, instead of how they could cause God to be more pleased with them. I rarely hear individuals say that going back in time would allow them to help others, do more good deeds, or tell more people about Jesus. It's usually about regretting decisions they wish they could change.

These folks might laugh and joke around about this, but for some, their personal agony is very real. Why are they secretly haunted? Instead of listening to their creator who wants to speak His truth and heal their pain, they are listening to the voice of the great deceiver, the enemy of our souls, and often called the accuser of the brethren. It is a dark demonic influence that speaks lies and negative information with the intent to make us feel rejected, envious and depressed. This is why it's imperative to realize that God never condemns, mocks or laughs at our misery. He is always there to forgive, comfort, and encourage us to keep our eyes on His endless love and grace.

When Satan through the serpent communicated with Eve, the temptation to embrace evil was introduced and it has been a continuous flow of twisted and distorted information since that time. This malicious lying presence never stops suggesting and roams the earth seeking someone who will listen.

The devil cannot actually make anyone do anything but is considered extremely clever when it comes to verbal persuasion. Why else would a person who has every material blessing and pleasure you can think of cry themselves to sleep at night? Instead of being grateful to God for His mercy and praising Him for all the miracles they have received, they choose to dwell on what life would be like if they could go back and choose again.

King Solomon was at one time the wealthiest man in the world and was also the most miserable. He said he realized that earthly possessions and pleasures did not bring spiritual joy. In fact, he said the natural world was vanity. What did he mean?

The earth is a temporal realm that passes away and can give us good things for a short while, however beware of carnality as the lust of the flesh and love for possessions take us further away from God. Galatians 5:26 says, "Let us not desire to be prideful, provoking one another, envying one another."

Next week, we will continue this conversation. Take a peek at Philippians 4:4-8 when you have a minute.

My birthday is on the 1st of the month: When should I claim Social Security?

SOCIAL SECURITY MATTERS

GLOOR

Dear Rusty:

I will be 62 on Nov. 1, and I have chosen to take my benefits early.

I know that my benefit will be less than it would be if I waited and that does not to be without income for a long period of time. I know that if my birthday is on the first or second of the month, then I can draw that month.

Does that mean that when I turn 62 on Nov. 1, that I can receive my first check on the second Wednesday of November? And should I select November as the month I'd like my benefits to start?

I also read that I would be paid the month following the month I select, hence my confusion. Signed:

Confused Senior

Dear Confused:

There are a few different Social Security rules that come into play in your specific circumstance, which are concern me, but I don't want likely creating your confusion.

> First, since you will be 62 on Nov. 1, you will first become eligible for Social Security starting with the month of November. Those born on the first or second of the month are eligible for benefits for that entire month, whereas those who turn 62 later in the month wouldn't be eligible for benefits until the following month.

> To claim benefits, you must be 62 for the entire month and, because your birthday is on the first, your first month being 62 for the entire month will be November, and that is the month you should specify as your benefit-start month on your application.

The next thing to be aware of is that Social Security pays benefits in the month following the month those benefits are earned. That means that your November benefits will be paid in December. The exact payment date is determined by the recipient's birthday – born before the 11th of the month, SS payments are made on the second Wednesday; born between the 11th and 20th of the month, payments are received on the third Wednesday of the month; and for those born after the 20th of the month, payment is received on the fourth Wednesday.

Thus, since you were born on the first of the month and are claiming benefits to start in November, your first Social Security payment will be deposited in your bank account on the second Wednesday of December, and all subsequent Social Security payments will be made on that same second-Wednesday schedule.

You can apply for your Social Security benefits up to four months prior to the month you wish them to start, and SS recommends you apply at least two months prior to allow time for processing your application.

On the application, they will ask which month you wish your benefits to begin, and you can indicate November to get your earliest possible payment in December. Actually, you can simply select the following option on the Social Security benefit application: "I want benefits beginning with the earliest possible month and will accept an age-related reduction," which will accomplish the same thing.

Chilly Willy Winter's Eve Tours

COXSACKIE — The Bronck Museum will once again be holding its popular Chilly Willy Winter's Eve tours.

special-content These tours are designed to provide visitors with a small taste of winter living in times past, long before the comfort and convenience provided by central heating and artificial light made winter life much easier

A costumed guide will lead visitors through the interiors of the venerable Bronck houses, decorated for the celebration of the late fall and early winter holidays of Martinmas, St. Nicholas Day and St. Lucia Day.

The old traditions associated with these now largely forgotten holidays will be remembered and retold. What a great way to begin your holiday season!

The Chilly Willy tours will be offered at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 10, and at 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 11 and 12. Advance reservations are required for these popular tours.

To purchase tickets for the Chilly Willy Winter's

Eve Tours at the Bronck Museum, go to the following link: https://www.gchistory. org/chilly-willy-tours.

Tickets are $10 per person, be sure to purchase the correct number of tickets for the number of people in your party. Space is limited to 15 people per tour.

The Bronck Museum is located at 90 County Route 42 in Coxsackie.

The art of saving money: A roadmap to financial freedom

By Melanie Lekocevic

Capital Region Independent Media Saving money is a fundamental aspect of achieving financial stability and security. Whether you have a specific financial goal in mind or simply want to build a safety net for unexpected expenses, mastering the art of saving money is an essential skill.

WHY SAVE MONEY?

• Emergency Fund: Sav-work towards your goals, whether they are short-term (like a vacation) or longterm (such as buying a home or retiring comfortably). Saving makes your dreams financially achievable.

• Reducing Financial Stress: Having savings gives you peace of mind. You won't have to worry constantly about how to cover your bills, which can significantly reduce finan-

• Budgeting: Creating a budget is the cornerstone of effective money management. It helps you track vour income, expenses, and identify areas where you can cut back. There are numerous budgeting apps and tools available to assist you in this process.

• Pay Yourself First: Treat your savings as a non-negotiable expense. Set up an automatic transfer back. This might include dining out less, canceling unused subscriptions, or finding more cost-effective alternatives.

• Set Specific Goals: Establish clear, achievable savings goals. Whether it's saving for a vacation, a down payment on a house, or your child's education, having specific goals gives you a target to work toward.

The mysterious relationships of sisters

BODY, MIND & SPIRIT

PAT LARSEN

Having contemplated the direction I would take with this topic for several days now, it finally came to me that I just needed to sit at my desk and begin by pouring my heart out.

I am a sister, a sibling to three other sisters, often hearing sentiments offered to my dad about the unfortunate circumstance of having four girls and no boys. Maybe that's where the trepidation began for me. I was the oldest with 8 and 10 years between myself and the two youngest. Yes, the math then indicates that there was a great loss in our family when my sister, at the delicate age of 34, lost her battle with cancer. Maybe that's when the family dynamic split down its center.

Try as we may to keep the connections, things just kept getting more difficult as time passed. My parents moved away. My sisters followed suit and then, you already know this, things were just never the same. Physical proximity seems to matter. At least in our family's case, it did indeed.

This story isn't about my story but the story of the relationships between sisters and how they evolve. Perhaps because of my story, I am keenly aware of those sisterly relationships around me and how they developed.

I find it very mysterious that for some, there is an incredible closeness that is so loving and kind and offers solace even if adversity crosses their path.

For others, especially after the final parent has passed, the relationship among sisters splits apart as though each were the suspected villain in a horror film. Some of these siblings run and hide. Others curl up and become victims conversation, if this is the to the overbearing sibling.

Each strength or weakness blossoms, leaving so very little room for the true meshing of love to exist or be defined.

But why? What tends to be missing? Where is the glue between the sisters that eventually erodes? That's the mystery that I am trying to understand.

Feelings get so stomped on and disregarded. Self-preservation and walls go up, leaving little room to communicate adequately.

There is no compassion left to allow for each to be heard.

I'm truly stymied by all of this. I've chosen to write about this topic in the hopes of triggering perhaps just a collision course you're headed toward.

The thought of anyone else going through what seems like a secondary loss after the final parent has gone, seems cruel. To me anyway.

My fallback position has been my reliance on the four agreements, the principles and the tools that I live by to navigate this world. First and foremost, not taking anything personally, then followed by always doing my best.

Gratitude and reflection of what "was" at its finest is next on my go-to considerations, and then simply forgiving and letting go.

The mysterious relationship of sisters is one that truly requires quite a bit of strength, fortitude, and selflove to understand.

Thursday, November 2, 2023 B5

Perhaps the great mystery will be resolved one day by those much more savvy than I, but for now, I will re-read the Serenity Prayer and hope.

Do what makes your soles happy

MARY SCHOEPE

Chances are that if you're a healthy adult, you take your feet for granted. I know I do!

It never really occurred pounding every single day, from walking to climbing the stairs. But when your feet hurt, the simple act of walking can become an unbearable task.

A study from the American Podiatric Medical Association found 77% of people over 18 suffer from some form of foot pain including the most common problem - bunions.

According to Dr. Georgeanne Botek, head of the section of Podiatry and medical director of Cleveland Clinic's Foot Clinic, "Bunions often run in fami-to me that my feet take a lies, but they can also be the be your last resort," said Dr. result of the way we walk or the shoes we wear."

> Women are more likely to develop bunions from wearing high heels, pointy shoes and flip flops. Those fashionably pretty high heels put the weight of your body onto the ball of your foot. Plus, they force your toes into a small space, encouraging bunions to form.

> Unfortunately, bunions are permanent unless you have them surgically corrected. "If the pain persists for more than a year it may be time to consider bunion surgery, but surgery should Botek.

But what about wearing flip flops — are they are any better? Unfortunately, wearing flip flops causes your toes to overgrip to keep the flip flop on, resulting in chronic tension. Eventually this ongoing tension alters your balance, straining the forefoot and worsening any bunion or pre-bunion problems you may have.

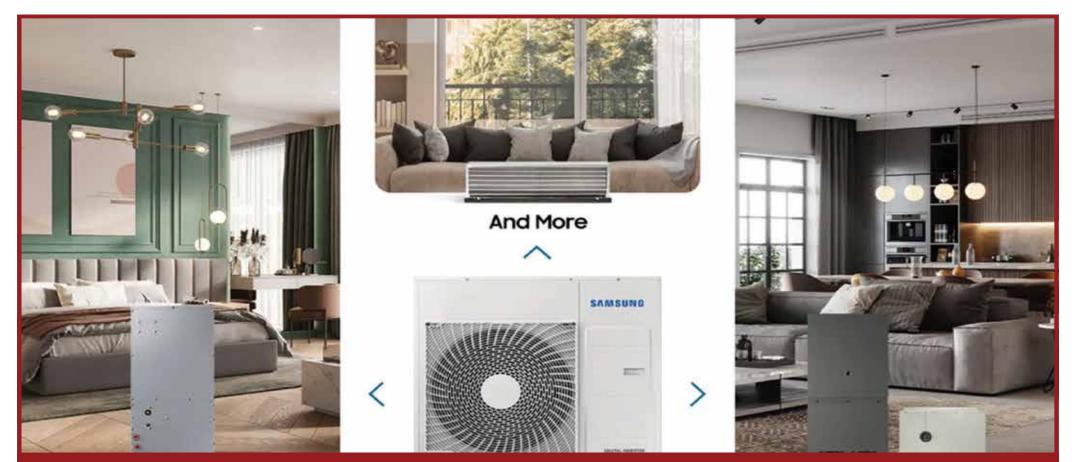

And speaking of tension - at one time or another we've all had stressful davs; believe it or not, your feet can be a cause of that stress. Poor foot biomechanics — the way the toes and feet function as they interact with your muscles and gravity can reach up the body, making it hard for muscles and joints to work properly. This can lead to hip pain, poor balance and more. So while your feet are stressed out, so is the rest of your body.

Ill-fitting shoes are the cause of stress in your feet, as are hard- or thick-soled shoes, both of which prevent feet from receiving the stimulation they need to keep them strong and supple.

According to Dina Stock DPM, "Be sure to choose low-heeled, comfortable shoes that provide plenty of space for your toes and the widest part of your foot."

Another option is walking barefoot (outside is optimal) as much as possible. Doing this helps "keep your feet strong and supple and will improve your balance and stability," according to Dr. Frank Lipman.

Wearing properly fitting shoes, maintaining a healthy weight and walking barefoot whenever possible will allow the feet and toes to be in their natural position and may help prevent the development of bunions.

Introducing an HVAC Game Changer: The Hylex[™]

The Hylex[™] from Samsung is compatible with virtually any existing HVAC system out there. Even better, there's practically no additional equipment needed - no new wires, lines sets or piping. This also makes for much faster and easier installation should the consumer choose to replace their existing ODU. In other words, the Hylex[™] is going to be an HVAC game changer.

Coeymans Hollow Volunteer Fire Corporation News

Coeymans Hollow recruitment and fundraising:

By now, the residents of the Coeymans Hollow Fire Distrist have received a letter from the Coeymans Hollow Volunteer Fire Corporation. Membership is at an all-time low and the company found it necessary to send out an emergency recruitment letter to explain its needs. They are asking you to review the letter carefully and consider taking an active role in your community. Stop by the firehouse on Tuesday to see drills and how they train. You can pick up an application or call 518-756-6310 and one will be mailed to you. You can also check it out online at http://www. coeymanshollowfire.org/ volunteer. Volunteers are neighbors helping neighbors. They will provide all the training and equipment that you will need to become a volunteer firefighter, EMT, fire police member, ladies auxiliary member or an associate member. All have an important role in the fire company.

The second part of the Letter is the department's annual fundraising and the 79th annual turkey drawing. All donations received will be eligible for the drawing. Donations can be mailed Coeymans Hollow to: Volunteer Fire Corporation, P.O. Box 147, Coeymans Hollow, New York 12046, or donations can be dropped off on Election Day. This call for help is not unique to the Coeymans Hollow fire company. Sadly, most volunteer fire departments are very short-staffed. Please consider joining their ranks. With your help, the plan is to provide you with a calendar next year.

• Assistance requested: The fire company is looking for members to assist with the collection of donation envelopes on Election Day. If you can assist, please sign up for a time slot in the downstairs kitchen or contact Jack Dennis

• CHVFC Line Officers meeting scheduled:

Due to Election Day on Tuesday, Nov. 8, Coeymans Hollow Line Officers will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 9, beginning at 6:30 p.m. All Coeymans Hollow line officers are encouraged to attend.

• CHVFC membership meeting scheduled:

Due to Election Day on Tuesday, Nov. 7, the Coeymans Hollow Volunteer Fire Corporation will hold its monthly membership Wednesday, meeting on

Nov. 9, beginning at 7:30 p.m. All Coeymans Hollow members are encouraged to attend. • Recruiting firefighters and EMTs:

Please consider joining your local volunteer fire company. They all need your help, and are in desperate need of firefighters and EMTs. They will provide all the training necessary for you to become a volunteer firefighter or EMT at no cost to you. If you are 16 years old or older, and are interested in the volunteer fire service, please call the firehouse at 518-756-6310 or stop by on drill night (Tuesdays) to see what it is all about or to obtain an application. For junior firefighters, remember — volunteering for your community looks good on your college or work application. They have the equipment, now all they need is you. Please today. Remember, join these are neighbors helping neighbors. You can make a difference!

• Events scheduled by neighboring fire companies and community groups:

- CHVFC donation envelope collection at the firehouse on Election Day, Nov., from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Membership applications will also be available.

Trinity United Methodist Church will hold a chicken and biscuit dinner on Election Day, Tuesday, Nov. 8, from 12-6 p.m.

Mystery Lake Trail Riders and the 25th annual Oak Hill/Durham Vintage Snowmobile Show & Swap Meet will be held on Saturday, Nov. 11, at Sycamore Country Club beginning at 7 a.m. For information, contact Shawn

Mayo at 518-469-9463

RCS High School Auditorium will hold an "Elvis Is In The House" special holiday concert Nov. 17, beginning at 6:30 p.m., to benefit area senior centers.

- New Baltimore Fire will hold a Pizza and Wing Night, take-out only, on Wednesday, Nov. 22, from 3-7:30 p.m. Please call 518-756-6222 after 2:30 p.m. to order.

• Safety tip:

Cold weather is just around the corner. Check your tires to make sure they will get you through the snow. If they are worn, replace them before the snow starts to fly.

• Fire and EMS report: The Coeymans Hollow Volunteer Fire Corporation responded to one fire and four EMS calls in the past week.

Teaching Gallery exhibit features work by HVCC alumni

TROY — Following its biannual faculty exhibition, The Teaching Gallery at Hudson Valley Community College will display the work of two Department of Fine Arts, Theatre Arts and Digital Media alumni: Rezart Bushati and Ossie Jon-Nwakalo.

The exhibit opens on Thursday, Nov. 2, with a reception from 4-6 p.m. The Teaching Gallery is located on the ground floor of the administration building on the Troy campus.

The exhibition showcases Hudson Valley's two visual arts degrees: Digital Media and Fine Arts. In addition to their A.S. degrees, Bushati, a graphic designer/ illustrator, has a Bachelor of Arts degree in Graphic Design from SUNY Cobleskill, and Jon-Nwakalo, a painter, has a Bachelor of Arts degree from SUNY Albany and a Master of Fine Arts degree from the Tyler School of Art and Architecture at Temple University in Philadelphia. Both graduated from HVCC in 2016.

The two artists work in different fields with distinct means of production, but both demonstrate a "strong sense of exploration and experimentation in their respective work," said Professor Tara Fracalossi.

Both Fine Arts and Digital Media faculty nominated Jon-Nwakalo and Bushati for the invitational exhibition that will allow each artist to show a significant body of work.

About his work, Bushati writes: "As a designer and illustrator, I look for ways to best communicate ideas visually. Influenced by the cerebral/openness of conceptual art and the logical/ strictness of modern design, I move shapes and text around until it resonates with my soul.'

In his work, Jon-Nwakalo explores "the edges of form and how size, scale, space and material impact the viewer's relationship to those borders and spaces of a physical object. I use the physicality of the paint and structure of the surface in order to emphasize the tensions that emerge from these border spaces."

Bushati will present an artist talk at 3 p.m. on Nov. 2 in the college's BTC Auditorium, prior to the opening reception. The talk and reception are open free to the public.

Also free, gallery hours through Dec. 2 are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays; noon to 7 p.m. Wednesdays; noon to 4 p.m. Saturdays, and closed Sundays and Mondays. Visit www.hvcc.edu/teachinggallery or contact d.gardner@ hvcc.edu for more information

Exhibitions in The Teaching Gallery are installed by students enrolled in Gallery Management courses with support from the Department of Fine Arts, Theatre Arts and Digital Media, the Cultural Affairs Program and the HVCC Foundation. Fracalossi is the gallery director.

AG provides tips to protect

NYers from scam phone calls

DEC on the lookout for 'frankenfish'

Courtesy of Department of Environmental Conservation "Frankenfish" are an invasive species that can harm local waterways' ecology

Almost as scary as Frankenstein's Monster, northern snakehead are an invasive, predatory fish species native to Asia.

Dubbed the "frankenfish," northern snakehead can breathe air and survive for days out of water. Once established, these voracious predators have the potential to wreak havoc on an aquatic ecosystem - out-competing top predators, throwing off the balance of native fish communities and more.

When it comes to identifying northern snakehead, they're commonly confused with bowfin and burbot, which are both native to New York. They are long, thin fish with a flattened head and a single dorsal (top) fin running the length of its back. They also tend to have a more pronounced blotchy pattern along their sides Bowfin can most easily be distinguished from northern snakehead by a shorter anal fin and a rounded tail fin, while burbot have two dorsal fins and a single chin barbel.

Federal and state regulations strictly prohibit the possession, sale and transport of snakeheads in the state

How you can help:

• Do not dump aquarium contents in any waterbodies, drainage ditches, or sewers.

• Use certified bait that is non-invasive and disease-free.

• Learn how to identify northern snakehead and report any encounters.

• If you believe you have caught a northern snakehead, DO NOT RELEASE IT.Take several photos of it from different angles, including the fins, and freeze it, then:

- Email isinfo@dec. ny.gov or your Regional Fisheries Office noting where it was caught (coordinates preferred);

- Submit a report through iMapinvasives; or

- Contact your local Partnership for Regional Invasive Species Management.

For more information, visit the DEC northern snakehead webpage.

NYS Attorney General Letitia James

NEW YORK – New York Attorney General Letitia James provided tips to New Yorkers who are receiving fraudulent calls from individuals claiming to call from banks or other institutions.

The Office of the Attorney General (OAG) has received complaints from New Yorkers in Western New York and across the state who are receiving calls from scammers impersonating banking institutions and trying to get their personal information, banking or security information, or money.

James urged New Yorkers to not engage with those callers and to avoid providing any personal information, transaction information, or codes over the phone.

"Scammers claiming to be a trusted bank, or any institution relied on for financial services, can seriously harm New Yorkers by taking their money and their personal information," James said. "I urge everyone to be very careful when they receive an unexpected call from any individual claiming to represent their bank or a government agency. Please follow the tips provided by my office on how to handle and identify a scam call to protect yourself, your family, and your finances."

James offers the following tips on how to handle phone scams:

• Never give your personal or financial information to someone who calls you. Think of the phone as a "one-way street" only give out personal information if you made the call. If banks do contact you by phone, it will be to request verification of activity. Banks will never call and then ask you to provide personal information, account or transaction information, or codes received over the phone.

• Don't engage the caller. Scammers can manipulate caller ID so that it appears to be an "official" call or a call from your city or town. If you do answer, just hang up if it seems like a scam. Consider using a call blocking app such as Nomorobo.

· Contact your bank directly to resolve any concerns. If you have any doubts that the person on the phone is not legitimate or that your account may be in jeopardy, you should hang up and contact your bank directly using a trusted source, such as the number provided on the back of your debit card or electronic messaging systems made available by banks online or through mobile apps.

• Government agencies usually reach out to you in writing. A government agency will not call you and threaten your arrest or demand payment.

The attorney general also provided tips on how to identify a scam phone call. Some reported scam calls have included scammers claiming:

• To be your bank calling about funds or recent account activity;

· To be from a government agency and that you will be arrested or deported unless you comply;

• You've won a sweepstakes, but you must pay the taxes up front;

• To be your grandchild in trouble who needs you to help them out;

• To be holding a loved one hostage or to have incriminating information about you.

Sometimes callers are also interested in your personal and financial information. They may claim to need your Social Security, banking or green card numbers in order to directly deposit money or to verify your identity. This is always an attempt to steal your identity. Never provide your personal information or bank codes over the phone.

New Yorkers who suspect that they are a victim of a phone scam are encouraged to file an online complaint with OAG's Consumer Frauds Bureau at ag.ny. gov.

Cornell Cooperative Extension of Columbia and Greene Counties will present the "Taste of Twin Counties" Fall Harvest fundraising event on Wednesday, Nov. 8, from 5:30–7:30 p.m., at The BARN at Liberty Farms in Ghent.

All proceeds earned from this fundraiser will directly support the future work of Cornell Cooperative Extension. Year-round, CCE offers various workshops to the public, conducts conservation management across New York state, educates the public on childhood health and nutrition, supports local farmers who grow our food, and much more.

CCE would not be able to offer these valuable opportunities to the public without generous fundraising and nearby communities, organizers said.

The evening will feature local chef Tom Ellis preparing meats from The Johnk Family Farm in Greene County, a silent auction, a dessert selection, and robust charcuterie spread highlighting local products from the Taste NY Market. The market is managed by CCE Columbia & Greene Counties.

The BARN at Liberty Farms is a rustic-themed wedding barn venue with over 400 acres of serene pastures, making it the perfect countryside location for the Fall harvest-inspired event.

Anyone from Greene and Columbia Counties or nearby areas is welcome to join in. Ticket prices are $80 per person, or $150 for donation support from our two attendees, and you can find more detailed information/register at: https:// www.eventbrite.com/e/ taste-of-twin-counties-tickets-690129244147?aff=oddtdtcreator.
